Description

Overlooking the blue of the Aegean, the Golden Beach and Dryos Bay, the villa is a charming private property located in a very panoramic position just few minute's drive from the sea.

The house, built with the typical Cycladic architecture, comprises of three levels and a terraced well-kept garden. A spacious outdoor terrace shaded by a traditional Greek pergola surrounds the main entrance floor. The main entrance opens to a cosy indoor living area with sitting place, a large dining table decorated with contemporary art pieces. There is also a well-equipped open-plan kitchen with a comfortable bar area.
Located on the same floor is the main guest bedroom with twin beds (pushed together can create a double), with access to the terrace with sea views.

The upper floor is dedicated to the master bedroom with a large en-suite bathroom, and access to a spacious roof veranda with great panoramic views.

The property's private infinity pool was built on the lower floor and is surrounded by green trees and a garden with a spacious outdoor pergola and sundeck. From the pool patio there is access to another attractive separate guest bedroom with double bed, en-suite bathroom and sea views. There is a smaller stone studio on the pool level with a sofa bed turned in twin beds and private bathroom, ideal for teenagers or nanny. The studio can serve as cool sitting room of the pool area as well.
Hammocks, sun beds, loungers and many sitting areas are scattered all around the terraces and the pool area of the property.

The property is a very pleasant retreat in Paros, away from the crowd but conveniently located not far from one of the most beautiful and long sandy beaches of the island. The villa is published in many interior design International magazines.
