Muvica is a small village situated on the southern slopes of the island Brač. It is turned towards the sea, on the coast up in the hill. Murvica is famous of its stunning beach, distinctive Dragon's cave and red wine. The red wine is produced from the indigenous wine sort Plavac which grow on the vineyards which village is surrounded by. The Dragon's cave is located near Murvica and it's called like that because of the relief carved into the cliff. It is something worth to see. Village beach is one of the most beautiful on the Croatian coast. The round small stones are magnificent for pleasant sunbathing, crystal clear sea is excellent for swimming, diving, rowing, surfing.... The best description of the village itself is that it is a forgotten place, with a lot of ruins in it and around it. Even on our beach we have Roman well, which is no longer in use, but it is here to remind us on ancient times. In such place is easy to relax and forget about the civilisation.
